

FEDERICA SANTISI

Illustration & Graphic Design

I'm a Sicilian illustrator and graphic designer living and working in London. I studied Illustration at the European Institute of Design in Rome, then studied further at London College of Fashion. My portfolio includes a variety of design from different creative fields - illustration, graphic design, branding, character design, editorial, photography, UI and many more. I am currently working on various projects and activities for different customers and also working on personal projects. I love all aspects of art and design, anything that inspires me for new innovative ideas. Part time ukulele lover, self taught photographer and fashion enthusiast.
